Recommended References and Resources for Culturally Responsive and Inclusive Practice
Module 1

1. National Association of Colleges and Employers
   This organization offers a variety of information on career readiness, best practices in the workplace, professional development, information on workshops and professional development, and is a great resource for anyone interested in implementing the most current and relevant practices in their work environment. We recommend perusing the tabs at the top based on your needs, but certainly check out the "Diversity Tab" and all of it's related information. https://www.naceweb.org/diversity-equity-and-inclusion/best-practices/

2. This image from New America - Culturally Responsive Teaching highlights some of the best practices and steps that can be taken to becoming a culturally responsive practitioner
